Confidential (what's said at group, stays at group)

While the path ahead may look long and lonely – know that others share that path. We are a small group walking down that same path. While some have just set foot on the path, others are further along the journey, but together as friends we will maneuver that path with compassion, concern, hope, and yes tears.

If you feel like talking, we'll listen, if sitting quiet is what you need, that's fine, too. We're very informal and you are welcome to attend as many sessions as you like.
